Alcumus Drives Innovation and Growth with Appointment of New VP of Product EHSQ

We're delighted to share the news that Harish Pandian has been promoted to VP Product EHSQ at a key time of growth for the business. In his new role, he'll be responsible for Environment, Health, Safety and Quality product development globally.

Since joining the business as Director of Product at eCompliance – a leading cloud-based provider of EHS software – in North America, Harish has shown his flair for managing EHS software products and delivering technology that supports our vision to create better workplaces and keep people safe.

Having extensive experience and an expert understanding of bringing product concepts to scale and launch across both B2B and B2C software products for the past 15 years, Harish and his team will play a critical role as we move into the next stage of our development.

As VP Product EHSQ, he'll lead an innovation focused product team and work closely across our UK and North American operations to deliver SaaS technology for the global EHSQ marketplace, with a mission to protect frontline workers.

Tyler Davey, CEO Alcumus North America said:

"Having the opportunity to see Harish grow with our team is a true inspiration and testament to his dedication and passion for the business. Developing the EHSQ management side of our business will help us to achieve our vision to create better workplaces and keep people safe and we look forward to the fantastic work he'll do in the future."

Harish, who joined the business in 2018, spoke of his new role, saying:

"I'm thrilled to be given the opportunity to help grow and develop Alcumus in the global marketplace and deliver the service and technology that helps to support our clients. We have a strong and exciting roadmap for our suite of products to meet the evolving nature of workplace safety and to best serve every aspect of the market's needs."