

Alcumus Recognized as a Leader in Independent Review of Global EHS Software Vendors

TORONTO, ON – February 9, 2021 – Alcumus, a leading provider of technology-led risk management solutions, has been recognized by independent research and advisory firm Verdantix as a Leader in its 2021 EHS Software Green Quadrant for its market-leading capabilities in chemicals management, quality management and contractor safety management. This achievement is based on 22 vendors evaluated in the report and improves on its previous placement as a Challenger in the 2019 benchmark.

The Verdantix EHS Software Green Quadrant is globally renowned for its expert insights of the most prominent EHS software vendors in the market. Based on a proprietary methodology, the independent review focuses on live product demonstrations, vendor responses to a 383-point questionnaire and findings from a global survey of 301 EHS decision-makers across 25 industries and 31 countries.

Dedicated to helping over 40,000 customers take care of their people, customers, and the environment, Alcumus is one of only a few vendors to score strongly across the full solution spectrum laid out in the research.

“It’s a great achievement for Alcumus to be recognized as a Leader in the 2021 Verdantix EHS Software Green Quadrant,” says Tyler Davey, CEO Alcumus North America. “We have a strong and exciting roadmap for our suite of products to meet the evolving nature of workplace safety and to best serve every aspect of EHS client needs. We’re looking forward to see where the future will take us as we help to create better workplaces, keep people safe, reduce risks and simplify processes.”

Since its first inclusion in the 2019 report, Alcumus has grown its business and customer portfolio, launching a range of market-leading product offerings and making strategic acquisitions in core geographic markets. In August 2019, Alcumus acquired Toronto-based SaaS cloud EHS software provider, eCompliance, and in 2020 continued its expansion in the UK and North America with two new acquisitions, Banyard Solutions and ContractorCheck.

The acquisitions further add to the proven portfolio of risk management products, which includes SafeContractor, Info Exchange, Sypol, eCompliance, ContractorCheck and Field iD, providing an even more tailored service offering and expertise to match client needs in North America and the UK.

Alcumus’s integrated software platform enables effective management of operational risk through digitization of processes often siloed, such as health and safety, environmental, supply chain management, and workplace access.
